Subject: RMAC question

Hi Marc,

For the [\[California Rangeland Conservation Coalition\]](#) Summit this year [\[for Jan 2016\]](#), Sheila and I are co-chairs and when we met with Karen Sweet to start planning the event, we kept coming back to the issue of wildfires and how the impact private and public rangelands. Case in point – the BLM ranch that burnt a few acres this summer [\[Cache Creek fire\]](#). One of the things we are planning on doing is have all of the tables discuss some of the issues they see to proper management of resources, and provide some possible solutions. We have all heard that RMAC may be trying to do something with this issue as well. Would there be anything that we could try to get as outcome from the Summit that would help RMAC? And if so, what would you like to see? We are sort of envisioning a short policy brief type paper. One pager basically for folks to use when advocating either locally within the state, or when they go back to DC. Let me know if there is anything in particular along those lines that might be helpful, and we can work together to tailor something, hope to get something useful out of it.

Theresa
